

Notes

25 février, 2015

now that we've looked at power series, we look at approximating function with these power series.

focus on polynomials

skipping the four different ways to approximate with polynomials.

we start with the least helpful technique. taylor series say we have $f(x)$ on $[A, B]$